

Tom Potgieter

Tom Potgieter is an Investment Analyst at Contrarian Ventures. With a strong technical foundation built from studying Aerospace Engineering and Quantitative Finance at TU Delft in the Netherlands and having passed the first level of the CFA charter, Tom helps bridge the gap of frontier technology and finance to offer a unique perspective in the world of venture capital.

His South African roots and global educational experience helped to shape his understanding of the essential role of technology in driving global change. Within Contrarian Ventures, Tom leverages this unique blend of skills to identify and support emerging climate tech innovations, actively contributing to the pursuit of a net-zero future.
